ed-A Claim for Injuries Sustalned-Councilman Married.

dence of the Richmond Dispatch.] une, Va., April 1 .- In the Comwas presented repealing the ordinance which has been in force for the past five years exempting from taxation for a and industries established in the city. This repealing ordinance was introduced at the suggestion of the Finance Committee after a conference on the subject beld last night in order to make the laws of the last night in order to make the laws of the city conform to the decision of the Su-Supreme Court of Appeals in the West Point case. The value of the property in Petersburg exempted under the "industrial" ordinance is $125,000 or more. It is not contemplated in repealing this law to require the owners of the property in question to pay any back taxes, but to assess them for taxation this year and hereafter. Nor is it in contemplation to interfere with the valuable properties of the several secret and benevolent orders, which have been exempt for so many years. Questions in reference to these will be left to be decided hereafter, as they may arise. Nor is it believed the Petersburg street railway will be affected. The exemption of this property will expire under the ordinance of the city on the first of January, 1893.

Adults on he sued.

A communication was sent to the Common Council this afternoon by Messrs. Alexander Hamilton and D. A. Lyon, coungel, asking that damages be allowed to Burwell Todd, a colored man, for injuries received some weeks ago while driving along one of the streets in Blandford, and from the effects of which he has since become disabled. No amount of damages is specified, and the Council is asked to adjust the claim on a fast basis, or falling to do so, suit will be brought against the city. It is alleged that while Todd was driving along at night, his horse stumbled against a water-plug lying in the street. The animal was thrown down, the buggy broken, and Todd was thrown out to the ground, sustaining a fracture of his left arm and other injuries. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee. A TEMPORARY SUSPENSION. Buena Vista's Outlook-Municipal Candidates-Political Movements. Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

Burna Vista, Va., April 1.—The glass-works has been compelled to temporarily suspend on account of the burning out of its furnace. Large orders for its products are constantly coming in. To-day an esti-mate was received to furnish 500,000 gross of cologne bottles for a large concern in New York, and another order for $8,000 worth of fruit jars.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railway is beginning work in raising their road-bed the entire length of town.

There is a very decided increase in the demand for eligible business and resident

It is believed here that the large machine-works operated by the Rang Company will soon pass into the hands of a rich syndicate, and be operated on an ex-

Williamson, and before any details could be arranged the police arrested Seay, who was carried before the Mayor and bailed to appear at the next term of the Corporation Court. THE TANGIER ISLANDERS.

fired of Oyster Wars and the Main Land-Mr. Chim Will Leave for Maryland.

(Correspondenced the Richmond Dispatch.]

ONANGOER, Va., March 81.—The County Count will probably be occupied all this week with the cases arising out of the recent oveter war in Tangier Sound, About seventy-five Tangier islanders have been here since last Sunday in attendance on the grand jury, which is still in session. The islanders stay here at night and go over to the court-house every morning and remain there till court adjourns. They are getting tired of their enforced stay on the mainland, and long to go back to their island home sgain. About forty of them spent one night during the week in the court-house and made things lively till long after midnight. They organized an impromptu camp-meeting in the courtroom, listened to exhortations, and made the building ring with many of the old island revival times. A large crowd gathered around the building and enjoyed the songs and exhortations. One of the speakers exhorted them not to engage in any more ovster wars.

As intimated in this correspondence some weeks ago, Rev. William Chinn, who has been paster of the Presbyterian churches in Accomac for the past ten years, has accepted a call to Rockville, Md., where he expects to go in the course of the next month. Mr. Chinn is comparatively a young man, but he is an able and scholarly preacher and a man of great influence and popularity in this community. The membership of his church here is small, but he always preaches to a full house, and his departure is sincerely regretted by persons of all denominations. He will be sadly missed here by the Masonic fraternity, as well as by his church-members, Pleasant pastures to him in his new charge!

Argument to Consume Eighteen Hours Strong Speeches on Both Sides. (Special telegram to the Dispatch.)

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.)

Newdenn, Va., via Dublin, Va., April 1.—

It was arranged that the argument in the Feagles case should occupy eighteen hours. This gives nine hours a side, to be divided up as lawyers determine. General James A. Walker opened for the prosecution. He devoted himself to showing that the circumstantial evidence in the case fully corroborated the eye-witness. Frances Lindsay. His argument was powerful and convincing. He was followed by Judge R. M. Brown

He was followed by Judge R. M. Brown, who made a closely reasoned and telling speech for the defence, and endeavored utterly to discredit the testimony of Frances Lindsay. Colonel R. B. Berkley then delivered an eloquent, persuasive, and effective oration on behalf of the Commonwealth. Captain I. H. Carew is speaking for the defence to-night. The argument will close about 6 P. M. to-morrow.

THE DISPATCH will be A TWELVE PAGE PAPER to-morrow.

[Correspondence of the Kichmend Dispatch.]

CINKTWOOD, VA., March 31.—Ira Yates, a young man, died from the effects of an overdose of worm-oil at about half-past 3 o'clock last night. He was teeling somewhat indisposed and asked his father to procure some of the oil for him, which he did; and instead of measuring the dose he drank it from the vial which held it, and in a few minutes the effect produced was spasmodic. He remained in this condition for two or three hours, when he became unconscious, and remained in that sixte until he died. Drs. Phipps and Jones were called to attend him as soon as it was found that he was poisoned, but they could do nothing to afford him any relief. He was a sturdy, honest, and industrious young man, whom everybody liked.

Tastay, Va., April I.—Owing to the illness of Judge Gillet, who is suffering from rheumatic rout, the March term of Accomac County Court ended yesterday. The Tangier lelanders, who have been here since last Sunday, have returned home. The grand jury did not reach their case, which will come up at the April term.
